

Engineering the Climate – Who Wins? A Conversation with Clive Hamilton

Wednesday, January 15
3:00p.m.-4:30p.m.
SIS Abramson Family
Founders Room

Clive Hamilton will speak about his new book Earthmasters, and about the environmental justice implications of climate engineering proposals.

Dr. Hamilton is a prolific author and respected public intellectual. He is a member of the Board of the Climate Change Authority of the Australian Government, and Professor of Public Ethics at Charles Stuart University in New South Wales, Australia.

A panel discussion, moderated by Professor Simon Nicholson, School of International Service, will follow. Panelists:

- Professor Paul Wapner, School of International Service and author, Living Through the End of Nature
- Tina Johnson, Senior Director of Environmental Justice and Programs, Energy Action Coalition
- Robby Diesu, National Organizer for The Stop the Frack Attack network and Co-Founder DC Action Lab

This talk and panel discussion is sponsored by the Global Environmental Politics Program and the Washington Geoengineering Consortium (www.dcgeoconsortium.org)

AU's School of International Service is located at the intersection of Nebraska and New Mexico Avenues. Parking is free in the SIS Garage after 5pm.

The event is free and open to the public.
